

Arizona Dry? If You Believe It's So Guess Again

Arizona isn't such a dry state as it is reputed to be, according to Thomas Meighan, Paramount star, who, together with his director, Alfred Green, and other members of the cast went to the desert state to film scenes for his new Paramount picture, "The Bachelor Daddy," showing at the Torrance Theatre August 3 and 4. Mr. Meighan, however, just happened to hit the state right in the midst of a rainy spell. "We had just one clear day," said the star. "It's a great country, but the living conditions in the town where we stayed are not what you would call luxurious. We lived in an adobe building and had to keep moving our beds to escape the rain. But at that it was interesting and the mine where we did most of the scenes is a very fine one." The dramatic scenes of the picture showing the fight between a band of Mexican renegades and a small group of defenders of a silver mine, were filmed at this spot. Letatrice Joy is leading woman and heads a strong supporting cast.

Hebrews 10:24, 25 "And let us bestow thought on one another with a view to arousing one another to brotherly love and right conduct; not neglecting, as some habitually do, to meet together, but encouraging one another, and doing this all the more since you see the day of Christ approaching." Daniel Pierson, Supt.

There is going to be an old man dependent on you some day. He is not your father, nor your wife's father, nor an uncle, nor an elder brother, but you yourself. What are you laying by for his happiness, comfort and sustenance during the sunset days of life? The time to make provision for him is now while you are young and strong and prosperous. Later on it may be too late.
